

Bullens' 130th Anniversary Design Competition T's&C's

This year Bullens' Jewellers is launching a jewellery design competition in celebration of our 130 year anniversary. The competition is open to all jewellery designers, student designers, plus anyone that just loves jewellery in Norfolk. The winning design will be produced in sterling silver and handmade by our local goldsmith.

The winning designer will...

Be presented their winning design in an attractive presentation box - yours to keep!

Have their piece photographed and presented to them at the award ceremony.

Help to fundraise by auctioning off a second identical piece, at the award ceremony, for Alzheimer's UK.

Rules for Entry:

The jewellery design must be inspired by Bullens', our presence in the City of Norwich and commemorate our 130 years in business.

The competition is open to all in Norfolk.

Entrants are advised to have a look at the iconic store and read about our history for inspiration. Designers should be aware that their design will need to be capable of manufacture at reasonable production costs for us.

Entries should be presented either as scale drawings (on A4 paper) or as CAD files.

The copyright in the design will remain the property of the winner.

Bullens' employees will have the right to use photographs of the design and finished piece for on-going publicity purposes.

Entrants who require their drawings to be returned to them must enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this purpose.

Entrants must be 16 years old and over.

The closing date for the competition is 31st October 2017.

A shortlist will be announced on 5th November 2017. All those shortlisted must be available to attend the award ceremony on the 26th November 2017, between 2pm and 6pm where they will be presented with their winning design.
